

SCULPTURE at SCENIC WORLD

MEDIA RELEASE

Thursday 7 August 2014

Scenic World opens call for submissions to artists worldwide for the exclusive rainforest exhibition in 2015

Sculpture at Scenic World 2015 is now inviting submissions for Australia's only rainforest exhibition with refreshed guidelines designed to increase professional opportunities for the international arts community.

The new submission guidelines include:

- Artworks must have been created within the past two years and can have been previously exhibited;
- Successful artists will have the opportunity to produce small scale works for Sculpture Otherwise which will be exhibited for the first time at the Blue Mountains Cultural Centre;
- The Scenic World $20,000 Major Prize will no longer be acquisitive.

Now in its fourth year, Sculpture at Scenic World will exhibit from 15 April to 10 May 2015. The call for submissions follow Scenic World's commitment to extend the outdoor exhibition for at least three more years after the significant success of the past three events.

Sculpture at Scenic World has supported more than 100 exhibiting artists with almost 160,000 people riding the world's steepest railway down to the Jurassic rainforest to view the sculptures.

Scenic World's Head of Marketing & Events, Amanda Byrne said "the exhibition is now respected as an international cultural event and acknowledged by artists as a highly credible exhibition to include in their portfolio".

Previous exhibition judges have included Tony Bond AM, Dr Richard Goodwin and Binghui Huangfu. The deadline for Sculpture at Scenic World 2015 submissions is Monday 20th October 2014. The successful artists will be notified on Monday 3 November 2014.

For interviews, images or media famils, contact Australia PR director, Michelle Grima, on 0416 114 911 or email mg@australiapr.com.au. For submission details and entry forms visit: www.scenicworld.com.au/sculpture